

Console Jockey, Inc.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Erick Clark
Director of Fictional Media Developments, yadda yadda yadda
Console Jockey, Inc.

sarcastic\_s.o.b.@consolejockey.com
www.consolejockey.com

Console Jockey develops new Telecommunications Medium

Development Enhances Solutions for Corporate, Government, and Education stuff.

AUSTIN, TX - March 10, 2002 - Console Jockey, Inc., the somewhat renowned, global e-business, new media consolidation, infrastructure solution partner, announced today that they have created a new medium for telecommunications allowing global access to unlimited computer resources. The company has entitled this creation, "The Internet™".

"Our technology department, with the help of a few rather insignificant names such as Tim Berners-Lee and a mysterious group known only as The WaSP, have invented the next horizon in information dissemination." says founder and VP of BS, James Craig.

The Console Jockey team has also developed a patented approach to publishing on "The Internet". Internet publishers will be known as "Webmasters™". Console Jockey will immediately begin licensing this approach under its exorbitantly priced "Console Jockey Webmaster Certified Expert" program (also known as CJWCE). Intelligent business owners should only hire Webmasters certified through the CJWCE program.

"Console Jockey's invention, The Internet, is going to revolutionize the way I do business." - John Doe

More information regarding Console Jockey, Inc. is available on its website, www.consolejockey.com but of course you have to be CJ-ISP subscriber to access the "Internet" so most of you will be unaware of this whole idea of a "website".