

Console Jockey, Inc.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Nathan Hanners
Corporate Advisor to the Assistant of Investor Relations
Console Jockey, Inc.

howDoOurSwollenHeadsFitThroughOurShirts@consolejockey.com
www.consolejockey.com

Console Jockey Decidedly Better than the Competition

Everyone should agree the Console Jockey product is better than The Blue Team's.

AUSTIN, TX - March 10, 2002 - Console Jockey, Inc., the world renowned, TQZR-enabled company, announced today that its media product is much better than a slightly similar product recently released by the CC: company known as "Cosmic Muffin".

Console Jockey technology utilizes a new CJ development, Random Access Memory, (or RAM). This allows our patented "Copy and Paste" functionality to speed up the e-process of Webmastering. The nearest competitor's "keystroke" technology must be typed one letter at a time.

Development has begun on Console Jockey Version 3.5 beta 6 which will be released prematurely in a few minutes as Version 5.0i due to marketing reasons most humans can't understand.

In related news, Console Jockey has recently acquired its fifteenth round of Series D funding. According to Chief Officer of Money, James Tikalsky, "The company is now worth a jillion dollars. We plan to spend most of it on company happy hours, a fusbol table, and a newly-instated corporate slush fund."

More information regarding Console Jockey, Inc. is available on its website, www.consolejockey.com. To get the most out of your life, sign up for a Console Jockey Online internet service provider account (CJOL).

Get 1 million hours free! (in the first week.)